

PRODUCT UPDATE:

SENS.IT TPMS FROM ALLIGATOR NOW COVERS 2022 JEEP MODELS

Alligator sens.it RS universal TPMS sensors now covers various 2022 Jeep vehicles (Gladiator, Grand Cherokee, Grand Wagoneer, Wagoneer & Wrangler).

The truck & SUVs are now a part of Fiat-Chrysler's vast lineup of vehicles that support TPMS automatic learning, and these models also utilize advanced auto-learning technology - the body computers utilize data from both the TPMS sensors and ABS system to automatically locate and store new sensor IDs quickly, which reduces the driving time for registering new sensors compared to simpler systems.

If no scan tool is available for manual sensor ID registration, then simply park the vehicle for 20 minutes, and drive it until the pressures for the new tires show up on the display.

Using sensors that have an auto-learning feature is especially helpful for DIYers that install wheels themselves but don't have access to a scan tool for new sensor ID registration and for wheel shops that rely on the end-users to handle the TPMS learning process.

The sensor also supports location detection, so when rotating tires, there's no need to reset the system manually - simply follow the same procedure as auto-learning and the display will show the new locations on the dash after driving for a few minutes.

By continuing to use Alligator sens.it RS sensors, your shop will be working with a part that supports the full range of OE features which makes the techs' jobs easier, reduces unnecessary down-time in the bays for TPMS learning or sensor issues, helps your business' bottom line, and keeps your customers happy and coming back.

When replacing OEM sensors with aftermarket sensors, rest assured that RS series TPMS sensors from Alligator will provide all the functionality that your vehicle delivers! Regardless of the tool that's used to program the sensors, these new vehicles should be available for programming after completing the latest update.
